The European Association of Remote Sensing Companies (EARSC), under contract to the European Space Agency (ESA) in the framework of the Copernicus Programme, is performing a study to investigate emerging Sentinel-powered applications and business models, their technological and market maturity and the obstacles and challenges encountered by entrepreneurs who want to create businesses based on Copernicus Sentinel data.

(Former) participants in the Copernicus Masters, ESA BICs, EU incubators or in any other incentive scheme are particularly welcome to rate the impact that the experience has had on their business or idea.

Benefits:

- Receive a free 6-month trial membership of EARSC*. This will allow access to the communications of the association, information on the market, on the industry and bid opportunities, and participation in restricted events.
- Have the chance to be featured as a "success story" in the upcoming report (upon consent).
- Receive an advance copy of the final report prior to its publication.
- Have the chance of being short-listed for participation in the ESA App Camp, to be held in ESRIN in September 2019.

\ Non-EARSC members only, some conditions apply, see <http://earsc.org/joinus/>. After the 6-month trial, start-ups may benefit from the favourable introductory membership prices which EARSC makes available to all new companies (€250 for the first year, €500 for the second and €825 for the third).*
